MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Rotarians,

We start the first day of fall today with a "bang", as it were, with a presentation about the Nevada Test Site. This conversation is of particular interest to me for a number of reasons. On the personal side, I lived in Hiroshima, Japan for about two and half years and my wife is from there. I had the opportunity to go to the Peace Museum (what they call the museum about the atomic bombing) several times and have also attended Toro Nagashi, a ceremony held on each anniversary of the bombing where 10,000 + paper and candle lanterns are floated down the local river to commemorate those lost.

As an additional twist, my stepfather was a Chief in the U.S. Navy during World War II and fought in the Pacific theater, including in some famous battles such as the campaign for Guam and Saipan.

Given this odd dichotomy, I have perhaps a somewhat unique perspective on the whole conversation about the development and use of nuclear weapons.

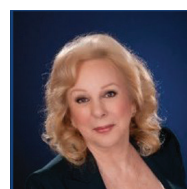

Without going into a deep philosophical exploration, I do find it interesting that both my stepfather and just about everybody I met in Hiroshima more or less agreed that the root issue was less about the weapon itself, and more about the problem of going to war in the first place. It is remarkable that in less than a single generation two countries could go from being such vicious enemies to very close allies.

Given the ability our two countries demonstrated to quickly leave the hatred behind and embrace friendship, I don't think it is a coincidence that both countries have an extremely strong and deep tradition of Rotary. I don't know if Rotary played a role in what transpired, but I would be willing to bet many Rotarians on both sides of the Pacific were instrumental in achieving this transformation.

All this should give us confidence that as depressing as the current state of world affairs may be, there is hope for a better future and Rotarians will no doubt be in the forefront of driving that change.
