MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Who was that Masked Man?

For those of you who can remember the Lone Ranger and Tonto, you will recall that each episode ended with the rescued town folk asking each other those words as they wondered who to thank for their good fortune.

Today mask wearing has a different place in our daily conversations. When we were first introduced to the current virus, we received confusing advice from health organizations worried that there would not be enough masks for doctors, nurses, and other healthcare workers. That concern was probably not out of line, considering the run on toilet paper that occurred.

Then mask wearing left the realm of medicine and public health and entered the political arena at about the same time that we watched hospital systems being overwhelmed. Medical experts then got their act together and recommended bandanas or non-medical grade facemasks as a way to slow down the spread of the virus.

Rotary continued to function as governments shut down business, sports, and large gatherings generally. Rotary International converted the annual international convention to an on-line format, and our club meetings went digital until our meeting place could accommodate us on a limited basis. However, we would need to wear face coverings when we were not eating, per a State rule in late June. In the final few days in June, the political issue became more confusing as prominent opponents of masks reversed course. Vice President Pence led a task force briefing that encouraged the wearing of masks, as did Sen. McConnell, who stated that, "We must have no stigma – none – about wearing masks when we leave our homes."

Last week our guest speaker talked about artificial intelligence. He described how machines can be programmed to do repetitive tasks and to alert when something it is monitoring is not as it should be. Such artificial intelligence was contrasted with human intelligence, which includes understanding on a deeper level than just following directions. The example was given that if a machine has a set of instructions to follow but is unable to execute any one of those instructions, it cannot complete its task, unlike a human who would try to reason out a path forward around the obstacle.

Connecting the conflicting and confusing messages that we are receiving about ways to slow down the spread of the current pandemic and reopen our schools, with the talk last week about artificial, and human, intelligence makes me optimistic that we will solve this problem.

The field is very much in its infancy with so much possibility for future applications that require the computer to carry out long thought processes he finds very exciting. AI brings transparency, consistency and auditability to deployments. AI is responsible for recommendations we receive on Amazon and Netflix. Mobile check deposits are a common example of AI in our daily lives. Tasks that are similar and repetitive lend themselves well to an AI application.
- President Richard Jost presented our speaker with a “Share What You Can” award and then adjourned the meeting.

COMMITTEE SPOTLIGHT

The way we do business has significantly changed due to the COVID-19 pandemic by reinventing our business operations with virtual meetings and partial re-openings. With the new Rotary year just beginning, new leadership and new challenges, we all need to do our part to contribute to the growth of our Club. With membership, the challenges we face are increasing the number of members, retaining existing members and keeping members engaged in the Club and our community involvement. The Membership Committee 2020-2021 has made significant changes to the way we are addressing these concerns. We want to engage our group and keep the excitement of Rotary alive!

The new RI theme 'Rotary Opens Opportunities' causes us to think of the opportunities we have when it comes to Membership. A short success story of an existing member: During a business meeting, the subject of community involvement came up and it was uncovered that this client had been a long time past Rotarian and another mutual service related organization. After the client mentioned an interest of getting involved in Rotary again, it was as simple as asking, "Please be my guest, we would love to have you consider joining again." That easy! There are many doors like this that we have the opportunity to open and display the greatness of our Club. So, somehow, we can all engage Rotary into our business dealings to expand our Membership.

We have 6 subcommittees: Each subcommittee has a Chair and member participants of which we still have openings available for members to participate in a leadership role. We are excited to discuss these opportunities with you. Some changes are:

- Recruitment – RI, website, recommendations from existing members, visiting guests
- Induction – presentation to Club, engaging more members in the Orientation meeting
- Mentorship – thoughtful pairing engages new members in Club activities and service
- Membership Retention/Friends & Family of Rotary/Attendance – interrelated insuring inclusion in all areas of our Club, ongoing connection during absence and expanding into the family network

Taking an excerpt from DG Greg Jones in the District 5300 Highlighter, we have the opportunity to remind ourselves why did we join Rotary and why do we stay? Whether it is community service, a particularly meaningful local project, international service, leadership development or fellowship with other Rotarians, it is up to us to find ways to be involved in things that are impactful to us individually and to the Club. We have the opportunity to apply our passion and continue to innovate new ways to of doing business.
