

Jessica Love

Executive Director, Daring Girls

Jessica Love is Executive Director of Daring Girls, which partners locally with organizations in Africa to ensure that girls have the knowledge, tools, mentorship, and support to confidently design their own futures. Together, Daring Girls and our partners are building a world where every girl has the skills, confidence, and savvy to design her own future and dare to become who she wants to be.

We know that educated girls have better lives and seek positive changes in society, yet only 39% of girls in Tanzania go to secondary school, and only 3% go on to tertiary education. Daring Girls develop programs that help younger girls stay in school and complete their lower secondary education while building critical skills that build confidence and inspire belief in their future potential. They also support mentoring programs for older adolescent girls that help them build leadership skills, as well as personal qualities like confidence and resilience, supporting them to succeed well beyond secondary school. All of the programming they support pairs girls with a university educated woman mentor who serves as a role model and example of what every girl can become: a woman who confidently designs her own future.

Jessica joined the organization in 2020. In the last four years, Jessica has been able to secure the largest single gift in the organization's history, successfully renamed and rebranded the organization from its previous name, AfricAid, to Daring Girls, and she has expanded the organization's reach from one country to four, serving more girls in more countries. She is an experienced communications strategist who has managed media relations, community and stakeholder outreach for domestic and international nonprofit, foundation and corporate organizations for 20 years. Before joining Daring Girls, she provided communications counsel to a variety of organizations, including HOPE Foundation for Women & Children of Bangladesh and Fistula Foundation, where she previously spent several years leading communications efforts to raise awareness and funds to treat women suffering from obstetric fistula, a devastating childbirth injury.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Efforts to ensure that girls in Africa have the knowledge, tools, mentorship, and support to confidently design their own futures is not new to Rotary. Over the past decade, Rotary International has played a pivotal role in fostering the empowerment of young women across Africa through various impactful programs. Recognizing the importance of gender equality and the need to address systemic barriers faced by women, Rotary has actively implemented initiatives aimed at providing opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Rotary has been instrumental in facilitating access to education for girls in Africa, recognizing education as a fundamental tool for empowerment and socio-economic development. One notable initiative is Rotary's partnership with organizations like the Malala Fund and Girl Up, which focus on promoting girls' education and empowerment worldwide. Through these partnerships, Rotary has helped fund scholarships, build schools, and provide essential resources such as textbooks and uniforms to girls in underserved communities across the continent. Rotary clubs in Africa have established mentorship programs that pair girls with successful professionals who serve as role models and provide guidance as they navigate their educational and career paths. These mentorship initiatives offer girls valuable insights, encouragement, and support, instilling in them the confidence to pursue their dreams and overcome obstacles.

Moreover, Rotary's involvement in promoting health and well-being among young women in Africa cannot be understated. From initiatives focused on reproductive health and family planning to campaigns combating gender-based violence and promoting access to healthcare, Rotary has been at the forefront of efforts to improve the overall quality of life for young women across the continent.

Collaboration with local communities, governments, and non-profit organizations has been a cornerstone of Rotary's success in empowering young women in Africa over the past decade. By leveraging resources and expertise from diverse stakeholders, Rotary has been able to maximize its impact and reach even the most marginalized communities.

Looking ahead, Rotary remains committed to advancing the rights and opportunities of young women in Africa, recognizing that their empowerment is not only a moral imperative but also essential for the continent's sustainable development and prosperity. Through continued dedication and innovative approaches, Rotary will undoubtedly continue to be a driving force for positive change in the lives of young African women for years to come.
