President's Message

The Power of Our Foundation

November is The Rotary Foundation (TRF) Month, a time to recognize how Rotarians turn generosity into lasting action around the world.

The Rotary Foundation's signature initiative, End Polio Now, has brought us remarkably close to eradicating only the second human disease in history. Global Grants extend that same commitment to clean water, healthcare, education, maternal and child health, economic opportunity, and peacebuilding.

You may never meet the child who drinks clean water because Rotarians helped build a well. You may never see the mother who receives lifesaving care, the student who enters an equipped classroom, or the family whose community gains sanitation or medicine. But their stories are real, and our support helps make them possible.

At our November 12 meeting, our international service panel will share how The Rotary Foundation brings people together across borders to create measurable, sustainable change.

As we also recognize Veterans Day, we honor those who placed duty before self, a principle shared by both military service and Rotary.

That responsibility also begins here at home. Our Salvation Army Canned Food Drive is entering its final stretch, and now is the time for every member to act. Please make a financial contribution, and collect the spare foreign currency, U.S. coins and bills sitting around your home, car, or office. Every contribution will help feed local families during the holidays, and we still intend to beat the Kiwanis!

Rotary gives us the power to change lives around the world and here in Las Vegas. We may never meet everyone we help, but they are counting on people like us to step forward.

Now is the time. Let's finish strong!

Member Spotlight

Aris Lazarou - Real Estate Developer, Tark Office Condos

Aris Lazarou has been building businesses since college. As a student at the University of Nevada, Reno, he founded Pack City Storage, which picked up, stored and delivered thousands of boxes for UNR students over the summers.

After college Aris joined his family's business, Mastroianni Fashions, which his dad started in Las Vegas in 1985, and served as Director of Operations. He then spent four years at Schulman Properties, rising from Vice President of Operations to Senior Vice President of Development.

Today Aris is the developer of Tark Office Condos, a 74,000 square foot Class A office condominium project on South Cimarron Road along the 215 Beltway. As developer he keeps every plate spinning: design, construction, legal, financing and sales, plus the architects, engineers, contractors and consultants behind each one. A licensed real estate broker, he also leads sales for the project, which broke ground early this year, has topped out, and delivers next January. Beyond Tark, Aris owns and is repositioning Deer Springs Town Center in North Las Vegas, and is working with the City on an exterior refresh of the Mastroianni building on Decatur.

Aris joined the Las Vegas Rotary Club in January 2021. He's always happy to walk members through Tark, so ask him for a hard-hat tour. Outside work, he loves spending time with his family, especially his niece, Pilot.

Weekly Showcase

The Las Vegas Rotary Club has a distinguished history of international service through its participation in the Open World Program, established by Congress in 1999 to promote international understanding, strengthen relationships, and encourage cooperation between the United States and emerging leaders from other countries.

Open World Rule of Law Delegations

A significant part of Las Vegas Rotary's involvement has been the Open World Rule of Law Program. Senior U.S. District Judge Lloyd D. George hosted judicial delegations from Eurasian countries, initially partnering with the Fremont Rotary Club. In 2008, the partnership expanded to include Rotary clubs throughout Southern Nevada, with the Las Vegas Rotary Club administering the program's grant.

Judges and legal professionals visited Southern Nevada to study the American judicial system, court administration, judicial independence, and democratic governance. They met with federal and state judges, prosecutors, public defenders, law enforcement officials, and attorneys, and visited local courts and UNLV's William S. Boyd School of Law.

Delegates from Russia, Kazakhstan, Tajikistan, Ukraine, Estonia, Turkey, and Mongolia participated in professional exchanges, sharing perspectives on the administration of justice. These visits strengthened international relationships while giving participants a deeper understanding of American legal institutions.

Other Open World Exchanges

In October 2019, the club welcomed another delegation from Ukraine focused on medical education, autism awareness, and services for individuals with special needs. Visitors met with local educational and community organizations to explore programs that could benefit their communities.

The Open World Program is about more than professional exchange. It builds personal relationships, encourages cultural understanding, and creates lasting bridges between nations.

Through the dedication of Rotarians, judges, legal professionals, host families, and community partners, Las Vegas has contributed to international cooperation and friendship.

We look forward to renewing our involvement in the Open World Program and continuing this meaningful tradition of international understanding, friendship, and service.

Rotarians Imagine
The Possibilities!

Rotary Across the Nation

The Rotary Club of Twin Cities (Centralia-Chehalis)

Centralia and Chehalis are neighboring cities in Lewis County, Washington, about halfway between Seattle and Portland along Interstate 5. Chehalis is the county seat, and Centralia was founded in 1875 by George Washington (no relation to the president), a Black pioneer who came west on the Oregon Trail and laid out the town on his own land. Together, locals call them the "Twin Cities."

The Rotary Club of Twin Cities (Centralia-Chehalis) is part of District 5020. Its members are hands-on, and they even write and perform an original murder mystery dinner theater show each year. Proceeds from the show help build wheelchair ramps for local residents and fund scholarships at Centralia College. For about 20 years, the club's Giving Tree program has bought holiday gift certificates for families in need, chosen with help from local school staff. In 2020, a year when families needed help more than ever, the community gave over $32,500.

Education is the heart of the club's international work. In April 2025, members traveled to Camotes Island in the Philippines for the opening of a new two-classroom science and audiovisual center at Luciano B. Rama High School. The $40,000 project was funded with the Rotary Club of Gosford City, Australia, and two district grants. In India, the club partnered with the Rotary Club of Chandigarh Midtown to improve a village school in Singpura, Punjab. The school serves about 250 children, most from low-income families who walk to class each day. The project added two classrooms, a staff room and improved sanitation. Closer to home, a club member helped install a solar-powered pump that brought clean water to Plan del Vergel, a village of about 1,500 people in Oaxaca, Mexico. The club also provided sewing machines and training that let women in three Guatemalan villages make clothing to sell and school uniforms for their children.

If you would like to visit, the club meets Fridays at 7 a.m. at Mint City Coffee Roasting, 539 N. Market Boulevard, in Chehalis.

Rotary Across the World

The Rotary Club of Prague International

Prague, the capital of the Czech Republic, is often called the "City of a Hundred Spires." Its medieval Old Town, Charles Bridge and hilltop castle survived the 20th century largely intact, and the historic center is a UNESCO World Heritage site. The first Prague club opened in 1925, was shut down by the Nazi occupation in 1939 and again by the Communists in 1948, and returned only after the Velvet Revolution in 1990. The Rotary Club of Prague International, founded in 1998, is part of District 2240 and is the city's English-speaking Rotary club. Its members come from the Czech Republic and more than a dozen other countries.

Every spring, the club hosts a Dragon Boat Charity Challenge, in which teams race colorful boats on the Vltava River beneath Prague Castle. Along with an annual gala, the race raises money for local charities. Recently it helped Modrý Klíč (Blue Key), which serves people with disabilities, replace a minibus that had driven more than 540,000 kilometers. The new vehicle, delivered in 2025, cost about 800,000 Czech Koruna. When war broke out in Ukraine in 2022, members quickly gave 300,000 koruna and found housing for more than 30 refugees.

The club's signature international project is Speechless Reconciliation. Founded in 2021, it helps young people ages 16 to 21 who are leaving orphanages and state care across Europe. Through development camps, mentoring and support for their first jobs or businesses, the program has reached 143 young people from 10 countries, including Ukraine, Bosnia, Kosovo, Serbia and Lithuania. About 60% of its alumni are now studying, working or running their own ventures.

If you would like to visit, the Rotary Club of Prague International meets Mondays at 6 p.m. at the R. Jelínek Slivovitz Museum, U Lužického semináře 116/48, in the Malá Strana (Lesser Town) district.
