President's Message

Honoring Service

Our November 5 meeting gives us a special opportunity to recognize service in several important forms.

We will present our quarterly Wetzel Awards, honoring outstanding Airmen from Nellis and Creech Air Force Bases. These young men and women represent the professionalism, dedication, and commitment to service that help keep our nation secure. Recognizing them is one of our club's proudest traditions, and I hope each of us takes a moment to personally thank them and their families.

We are also honored to welcome Brigadier General Andrew Kiser, who will provide an update on the mission of the National Training Center at Fort Irwin.

The National Training Center plays a vital role in preparing our Army for the challenges it may face anywhere in the world. Its demanding training environment allows soldiers and leaders to test their skills, strengthen their units, learn from their mistakes, and prepare for the realities of modern combat before they are called upon to defend our nation.

With Veterans Day approaching, this meeting also reminds us of the generations of Americans who have worn our nation's uniform. Whether they served in times of peace or conflict, at home or overseas, every veteran made a commitment to place duty and country ahead of self. Their service, and the sacrifices made by their families deserve more than our appreciation on a single day. It deserves our respect throughout the year.

As Rotarians, we understand the meaning of "Service Above Self." While military service and Rotary service are very different commitments, both begin with the same fundamental idea: that we have a responsibility to contribute to something greater than ourselves.

Please join me in welcoming Brigadier General Kiser, congratulating our Wetzel Award recipients, and thanking all veterans and active-duty service members in attendance.

And with the annual rivalry game approaching, it is never too early to say, Go Navy! Beat Army!

Member Spotlight

Janice Lencke - Director of Sales, JW Marriott Las Vegas Resort & Spa

Janice Lencke has spent more than three decades creating events people remember. She began as a hotel Director of Catering for Hyatt and Sheraton properties in New York, Philadelphia and New Jersey, managing corporate functions, galas and weddings for 500 to more than 1,000 guests. A highlight from those years was coordinating a special event after a Three Tenors performance at Giants Stadium, hosting more than 1,500 guests.

In 2005 Janice moved to Las Vegas as Director of Catering at the Renaissance Las Vegas Hotel. Over nearly eight years there, she served as a primary contact for citywide conventions such as CES and NAB, created a monthly Chef's Table, and for ten consecutive years produced a Holiday Tree Fundraising Auction for the Boys & Girls Club.

She then spent thirteen years in destination management, first as Director of Sales for CLI Groups and, after its acquisition, as Director of Business Development for Access DMC, designing custom event experiences for conference and convention groups of 400 to 3,500 attendees. In September 2026 she joined the JW Marriott Las Vegas Resort & Spa in Summerlin as Director of Sales.

Janice joined the Las Vegas Rotary Club in 2011. She has served on the Board and the Foundation Board, chaired the Membership Committee, planned many of the club's fundraising and service events, and led the club as President for the 2025–26 year.

Outside of work, Janice is passionate about animal rescue and shares her home with several dogs. Each week she volunteers with hospice, offering comfort and companionship to elderly patients. She also refinishes antique furniture, which she displays at Antique Mall of America.

Investing in Our Future: The Rotary Club of Las Vegas Education Committee

Education has long been at the heart of the Rotary Club of Las Vegas's commitment to serving our community. Through its Education Committee, the Club builds meaningful partnerships with local elementary schools, providing financial resources, volunteers and hands-on opportunities that help students learn, grow and believe in themselves.

Led by Gwen Hall and Tina Bishop, the Education Committee brings together Rotarians passionate about youth development, literacy and educational opportunities. The Committee works with six local elementary schools: Will Beckley, Walter Bracken, Long, Hollingsworth, Laura Dearing and Quannah McCall Elementary Schools. Each partnership reflects the unique needs of its students and educators.

The goal is simple but significant: to make a lasting difference in the lives of children.

A Partnership That Makes a Difference

The Club supports these schools in many ways. Each receives a mini grant to address its individual needs. Sometimes that means funding a science laboratory, providing books or purchasing shoes for a child. Other times, it means supporting a musical production, introducing students to career opportunities or simply sitting down to read a book together.

Beyond financial assistance, Rotarians give their time, share their experiences and participate in school activities and volunteer projects. Whether helping at a fall festival, supporting literacy or participating in Career Day, members demonstrate the value of community service through personal involvement.

Under the leadership of Gwen Hall and Tina Bishop, the Education Committee continues to strengthen these relationships by listening to educators, identifying needs and finding opportunities for Rotarians to contribute. Together, these efforts create a partnership built on financial support, personal involvement and a shared commitment to student success.

For the Rotary Club of Las Vegas, supporting education is about more than helping schools today. It is about helping students discover their abilities, encouraging them to dream about their futures and giving them the confidence and tools to achieve those dreams.

Through education, service and partnership, Las Vegas Rotary is investing in the next generation, one student, one classroom and one school at a time.

Rotarians Imagine The Possibilities!

Rotary Club of Amherst

Amherst, Massachusetts is a lively college town in the Pioneer Valley. It is home to the University of Massachusetts Amherst, Amherst College and Hampshire College. It was also the lifelong home of poet Emily Dickinson, whose house is now a museum. The Rotary Club of Amherst is part of District 7890 and is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Each summer, the club hosts the Amherst Town Fair on the Town Common, a local tradition for more than 70 years. Proceeds support groups such as the Amherst Survival Center, which recently received $25,000 for kitchen equipment, along with Not Bread Alone and the Food Bank of Western Massachusetts. The club also awards college scholarships to local high school seniors every year. The club's other signature fundraiser is COVAC, the Connecticut Valley Century bike ride. Cyclists choose 25-, 50-, 75- or 100-mile loops through the farms and small towns of the Connecticut River Valley.

Internationally, the club donated $10,000 to Pure Water for the World, a nonprofit founded by the Rotary Club of Brattleboro, Vermont. The donation helped bring safe drinking water to Cité Soleil, Haiti, one of the poorest communities in the Western Hemisphere. More than 400,000 people live there, and illnesses from contaminated water, including cholera, are common. The project installs a biosand water filter in each home for about $300. It also trains local community agents, teaches families about hygiene, and follows up to make sure the filters keep working. The first phase aimed to reach 1,000 homes, about 6,000 people, including 3,600 children. The club also supports Rotary's worldwide effort to end polio.

If you would like to visit the Rotary Club of Amherst, lunch meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month at noon at the Inn on Boltwood, 30 Boltwood Avenue, right on the Town Common.

The Rotary Club of Gaborone

Gaborone is the capital of Botswana, a country known for its wildlife, from the Okavango Delta to the Kalahari Desert. The city was built almost from scratch as the new capital when Botswana won independence in 1966, making it one of the youngest capital cities in the world. Readers may know it as the home of Precious Ramotswe, heroine of The No. 1 Ladies' Detective Agency novels.

The Rotary Club of Gaborone is part of District 9400. Chartered on January 16, 1972, it is the oldest Rotary club in Botswana. Its very first project was giving a Braille typewriter to the Mochudi Resource Centre for the Blind. More than 50 years later, the club still supports the center. Members have drilled a borehole for water, helped fund a new building, and held Adventure Challenge fundraisers at Mokolodi Nature Reserve that raised more than 82,000 pula for the center in a single year.

For over 20 years, the club's Donate-a-Can drive has collected food for children's homes and families in need. Each winter, members also deliver blankets to remote villages, including San communities in the Kalahari. The club helped build and manage the BMS Phatsimong Adolescent Centre, which opened in 2013. It was one of the first centers in Africa to support teenagers living with HIV.

The club's international friendships reach across Europe. The Rotary Club of The Hague Metropolitan in the Netherlands donated €14,440 in medical equipment to Bamalete Lutheran Hospital, and a Rotary club in Copenhagen, Denmark, paid for an artificial turf play area at the Mochudi center. The club has also teamed up with the UK-based Wheelchair Foundation to give dozens of wheelchairs to people across the country, including 25 in the villages of Mahalapye, Serowe and Lerala.

If you would like to visit, the Rotary Club of Gaborone meets at The Patio Café & Deli, Plot 421 Mokgosi, usually on Fridays at 12:30 p.m.
